YOUTH HEALTH MELA

Date: February 17, 2024

Venue: Anna Centenary Library, Chennai.

As it's known, non-communicable diseases (NCD's) such as cardiovascular diseases, cancer, diabetes and chronic respiratory diseases are on the rise and are responsible for 70 percent of deaths worldwide. These NCD's share key modifiable behavioural risk factors like tobacco and alcohol use, unhealthy diet and lack of physical activity, which in turn lead to overweight and obesity, raised blood pressure and raised cholesterol, and ultimately disease. At present, the youth have fallen prey to this misleading life, thus becoming prone to a number of non-communicable diseases.

Keeping in this mind, the Department of Social Work participated in the Youth Health Mela organized by Adayar Cancer Institute (WIA) to create awareness about NCD among youth on 17th Feb, 2024 at Anna Centenary Library, Chennai.

The key focus areas for YHM 2024 includes Substance Abuse (tobacco and alcohol), Diet & Nutrition, Exercise & Fitness, and Environmental & Personal Hygiene.

The program enabled our students to gain knowledge and awareness on the importance of healthy life style, thus reducing the morbidity and mortality resulting out of NCD. A total number of four students took part in the event under the supervision of Asst. Prof. Dhanisha M. The event was even made more successful by involving the students in the programme.

INTERNATIONAL DAY FOR OLDER PERSONS

DATE: 3rd October 2023

VENUE: RMD Palliative Care Trust, Maduravoyal

International Day for Older Persons, celebrated on October 1st, honors the wisdom and contributions of our elderly population. It's a day to recognize their invaluable experiences and the wealth of knowledge they possess. This observance promotes inclusivity, advocating for their well-being, healthcare, and social engagement. Let us cherish our seniors, fostering a world where they can age with dignity and respect, enjoying their golden years to the fullest. This visit aimed to provide students with an opportunity to interact with the elderly residents of the institution and gain insights into the field of palliative care. Dr. Vikram, the founder of the institution, graciously hosted and guided us through the day. Rangoli Competition: The center piece of our event was the Rangoli competition, where teachers from various schools showcased their creativity through vibrant and eco-friendly Rangoli designs. Participants were encouraged to use organic and biodegradable materials, such as flower petals, leaves, and natural dyes, to create their artwork.

Educational Workshops: We conducted informative workshops on topics like climate change, biodiversity conservation, and sustainable living, tailored to the needs and interests of educators. These sessions aimed to empower teachers with knowledge and actionable insights to make environmentally responsible choices and pass them on to their students.

Guest Speakers: We invited experts in the field of environmental conservation to deliver inspiring talks on the significance of teachers in shaping the environmental consciousness of future generations.

The event garnered substantial participation from teachers, with over 100 educators from various schools taking part in the Rangoli competition. This enthusiastic response underscores the importance of teachers in leading by example and instilling environmental values in their students.

Our collaboration with Dream Kalam International and Nazareth Arts and Science was instrumental in the event's success. They provided logistical support, expert speakers, and contributed to the prize fund for the Rangoli competition.

The winners of the Rangoli competition were selected based on creativity, use of eco-friendly materials, and adherence to the theme of environmental sustainability. Prizes were distributed to the top three teachers, including certificates and eco-friendly gift baskets. The prize distribution ceremony was a heart-warming moment, reinforcing the commitment of educators to promote environmental awareness.

WORLD AFFORESTATION DAY REPORT: SOCIAL WORK STUDENTS STUDENT-ORGANIZED MOVIE SCREENING ON THE IMPORTANCE OF WILDLIFE
(OCTOBER 7TH, 2023)

World Afforestation Day, observed on October 7th, 2023, was marked by a significant event organized by the 37 social work students. In an effort to raise awareness about the importance of afforestation and its connection to wildlife conservation, the students hosted a movie screening, highlighting the crucial role of forests in supporting biodiversity.

The event took place at Seminar Hall, where students, faculty, and interested community members gathered to participate in the enlightening experience. The primary focus of the occasion was to emphasize the symbiotic relationship between afforestation and wildlife conservation, underscoring the critical role forests play in maintaining ecological balance.

The centrepiece of the event was a thought-provoking documentary titled "Harmony in Green: Sustaining Life through Afforestation." The documentary, curated by environmental experts, delved into the intricate connection between afforestation efforts and the preservation of diverse wildlife species. Through breath-taking visuals and insightful narratives, the film highlighted the consequences of deforestation and the positive impact of afforestation initiatives worldwide.

The organizers incorporated interactive sessions, allowing attendees to actively participate in discussions, ask questions, and share their perspectives. These sessions facilitated a sense of community engagement and inspired attendees to consider their individual roles in promoting afforestation and wildlife conservation.

The World Afforestation Day event left a lasting impact on the participants, fostering a greater appreciation for the interconnectedness of ecosystems and the role afforestation plays in mitigating climate change. Inspired by the success of this event, the BSW students expressed their commitment to organizing more initiatives that promote environmental stewardship and sustainable practices.

The World Afforestation Day event organized by students on October 7th, 2023, was a resounding success. By combining education, awareness, and community engagement, the event contributed to the on-going global conversation about the importance of afforestation in preserving wildlife and ensuring a sustainable future for generations to come. The BSW students demonstrated their dedication to social and environmental causes, leaving a positive mark on the campus and inspiring others to take an active role in environmental conservation.

CREATING AWARENESS ON ENERGY CONSERVATION AMONG STUDENTS AND COMMUNITIES

The program was conducted on December 14, 2023, at Nazareth Arts and Science College, spanning from 9:00 AM to 4:00 PM. Theme of the program is aligned with Innovation and design Thinking.

The program had a dual objective: firstly, to gauge the awareness levels on energy conservation among students through a survey, and secondly, to involve students in creating awareness within the community by producing educational videos.

Around 50 students participated in the survey and around 40 students along with 5 staff members participated in evaluating awareness in the community, areas including Avadi, Thirumullaivoyal and Ambattur.

Principal
Nazareth College of Arts & Science
Kovilpathagai Main Road, Kannadapalayam,
Avadi, Chennai-600062

The programme was Conducted by a survey through google forms among students to assess their current understanding and awareness levels regarding energy conservation. Survey questions focused on energy-saving practices, knowledge about energy-efficient technologies, and attitudes towards sustainable energy use.

The second focus engaged students in a video creation session where they collaboratively produced educational videos on energy conservation. Topics included the importance of energy conservation, practical tips for saving energy at home and in daily life, and the impact of individual efforts on the environment.

Identified existing knowledge gaps and misconceptions about energy conservation among the student participants. Provided a baseline understanding, allowing for the development of targeted educational initiatives. Students demonstrated creativity and innovation in producing informative videos on energy conservation. The videos covered key aspects of energy-saving practices, reaching out to the wider community.

Overall Impact:

Participants gained a heightened awareness of energy conservation principles. The community-focused video creation fostered a sense of responsibility among students, positioning them as influencers within their communities.

The program's success is reflected in the active participation of students, the creation of impactful content, and the potential for sustained awareness within both the student body and the broader community.

TRAINING ON IDENTIFICATION OF FLORA AT COLLEGE CAMPUS.

Nazareth College's Eco Club took a proactive step towards promoting environmental awareness and education by organizing a special event titled "Training on Identification of Flora at College Campus." Hosted by the Nazareth Emergency Relief & Rehab Foundation (NERF), the event aimed to equip students with the skills to identify various plant species within the college campus.

The Eco Club, a dedicated group within the college community, spearheaded this initiative. Their objective aligns with NERF's broader mission to promote sustainability and environmental stewardship. By engaging students in practical learning experiences related to environmental conservation, the Eco Club aims to empower them to become active agents of positive change in their communities.

With the help of the Plant Net app, a powerful tool for plant identification, students were taught how to effectively use the app to identify different plant species by simply capturing photos of leaves, flowers, or fruits. This hands-on approach not only made the learning process engaging but also empowered students to contribute to biodiversity documentation efforts in their surroundings.

The inauguration of the event was graced by the presence of the college principal, who emphasized the importance of environmental education in shaping responsible citizens. In her address, she highlighted the significance of understanding and conserving local flora, as it plays a vital role in maintaining ecological balance and supporting various life forms.

As the training concluded, participants left with not only newfound knowledge but also a renewed appreciation for the natural world around them. By empowering students with the skills to identify and appreciate local flora, the Eco Club's initiative takes a significant step towards achieving SDGs

TAMIL NADU CLIMATE SUMMIT 2.0

The Tamil Nadu Climate Summit 2.0 was a landmark event aimed at addressing the pressing issue of climate change through collaboration, knowledge sharing, and actionable strategies. The summit brought together diverse stakeholders including government officials, industry leaders, environmentalists, researchers, and community representatives to discuss innovative solutions and initiatives.

The first day of the summit focused on showcasing Tamil Nadu's climate initiatives and community-driven actions. Presentations highlighted various programs such as the Tamil Nadu Climate Change Mission, Green Tamil Nadu Mission, and initiatives like Meendum Manjappai and Green Benchmarking for industries. Community actions such as developing climate-smart villages and engaging indigenous knowledge were also emphasized.

Day two featured insightful discussions and reports on key topics related to climate change mitigation and adaptation. Fireside chats delved into the importance of local food consumption to reduce carbon footprint, while discussions centered around accelerating renewable energy transition, sustainable habitat measures, and carbon-neutral city planning. Reports were released on baseline studies regarding emissions reduction from mass transport, waste-to-energy pathways, carbon enrichment programs, and coastal habitat rehabilitation.

Eminent personalities such as Thiru. V. Arun Roy, Tmt. Rujuta Diwekar, Dr. Soumya Swaminathan, and Thiru. Montek Singh Ahluwalia provided valuable insights and guidance during the summit. Panelists from diverse backgrounds including government, academia, industry, and environmental organizations enriched discussions with their expertise and experiences.

The summit addressed policy perspectives and implementation strategies concerning climate finance, leveraging carbon credits, and creating carbon-neutral cities. Key stakeholders deliberated on challenges and opportunities, emphasizing the need for collaborative efforts and innovative policies to achieve climate goals effectively.

Notable publications including "Coral Reefs of the Gulf of Mannar, Tamil Nadu, India – Decadal Changes in status and management paradigms" and "Beneath the Waves - Exploring Tamil Nadu's Coral Reefs & Mangroves" were released during the summit, contributing valuable insights into coastal ecosystem management and conservation.

The Tamil Nadu Climate Summit 2.0 served as a platform for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and collective action towards combating climate change. The insights gained and the commitments made during the summit are expected to catalyze efforts in Tamil Nadu and beyond, towards a more sustainable and resilient future.

In Pre-incubation clear information on building a product based on the product and commercializing the product on who the customer is and understanding the customer needs are given to our upcoming Entrepreneurs which can be told as the Pre-Incubation stage.

Building a team and product needs a team or a set of people needs a mentor and this is the Incubation stage. Identifying the correct mentor makes the best thing at this stage which includes training everyone including co-founders and other resources and commercialising is essential to earn from the product. This is the place where the testing on the product with live customers comes in as well this is the place where we can identify the flaws on where to boost ourselves up. This pace gives much of a financial understanding of how much is needed and how much we can spend.

Post-incubation is more into the diagnosis problem solving and innovation along with commercialization. Also, it is advised in the program to always go with the training and acceptance of rejection which helps to understand the market.

This meeting ended up with Q&As from the attendees which was great and clearly answered by Mr. Munisha Bhatia. It was very effective session and concluded with a vote of thanks from the Co-ordinator.

The PG Department of computer science in collaboration with ISSM Business School and AIM (Association of Intellectual Managers), is hosting a one-day workshop on "Mastering Your First Interview." This workshop is an initiative by IQAC and will take place on Friday, February 2nd, 2024, starting from 9:30 am. The main objective of this program is to enhance your fundamental skills and provide guidance on how to successfully crack your first interview. It is crucial to understand that even if you are an expert in your field, recruiters will assess your knowledge and abilities during the interview process.

Therefore, having a remarkable personality and expert knowledge in your field are key factors in answering the question of how to crack your first interview. For freshers who are eager to kick-start their careers, it is essential to organize your thoughts and refine your foundational knowledge before attending an interview. These insights were shared by the esteemed guest speakers of the day, Mr. V.S. Syed Abuthahir Salman and Ms. K. Monisshaa from AIM and ISSM Business School.

The workshop consisted of three sessions for all the graduating students, covering the following topics of major interest as determined from the feedback collected from our college students.

BODY LANGUAGE
GROOMING
SELF INTRODUCTION
RESUME BUILDING

GROUP DISCUSSION
APTITUDE
PERSONAL INTERVIEW
TECHNICAL INTERVIEW
STRESS INTERVIEW
HOW TO ANSWER INTERVIEW QUESTIONS
WHAT QUESTIONS TO ASK

Students were motivated to construct their own curriculum vitae by utilizing the resume builder tool available on the college website. This initiative effectively instilled in all students a profound understanding of the significance of excelling in interviews. Consequently, a remarkable

SDG Goal 8, Decent Work and Economic Growth, aims to promote sustained, inclusive, and sustainable economic growth, full and productive employment, and decent work for all. It targets job creation, improved labour standards, and equitable access to economic opportunities, addressing poverty and fostering economic well-being worldwide.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

On August 31st, 2023, a noteworthy event took place as the team successfully organized a Signature Campaign with a specific focus on a thought-provoking question: "What do you consider as a Safe and Comfortable working environment?" This campaign aimed to stimulate thoughtful responses and discussions among the staff and students of a college community. The event took place in the College Lobby, serving as a central gathering point for this initiative. It managed to bring together a diverse group of passionate and socially conscious college students, all eager to engage in meaningful conversations and contribute their perspectives to a collective "Tree of Thoughts." The overarching objective of this campaign was to involve young minds in conversations surrounding two crucial themes: economic growth and full employment. These topics are of paramount importance in today's world, as they impact not only individuals but also society at large. By addressing the question of what constitutes a safe and comfortable working environment, participants were encouraged to explore the fundamental aspects of economic prosperity and job satisfaction.

issue. Open defecation is a significant public health concern, particularly in rural areas, where access to proper sanitation facilities is limited. The event served as a means to raise awareness, educate, and inspire change within the community. The need for this event was evident in the health and well-being of the villagers. Open defecation not only leads to contamination of water sources and the spread of diseases but also violates the dignity and privacy of individuals. By choosing this topic and employing a play as a medium, the event aimed to convey the importance of adopting proper sanitation practices and building toilets in a manner that resonated with the community. The students' involvement in the outreach program added a layer of youth-driven enthusiasm and dynamism to the initiative. Their presence not only symbolized the younger generation's commitment to societal change but also fostered a sense of collective responsibility for community development.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

The seminar on Prevention and Treatment of Substance Abuse played a pivotal role in addressing a pressing issue that affects individuals, families, and communities worldwide. Substance abuse has far-reaching consequences, including physical and mental health problems, social isolation, and a negative impact on academic and professional pursuits. Therefore, this event was of paramount importance in creating awareness and equipping students with the knowledge and tools to combat this menace. The guest speaker presentation on different types of drugs and their effects was particularly enlightening. Understanding the various substances and their consequences is the first step in prevention. By providing insights into the risks associated with drug use, the seminar empowered students to make informed decisions about their own behavior and encouraged them to support peers who may be struggling with substance abuse. Additionally, the event emphasized the critical importance of early intervention and access to treatment for those already affected by substance abuse. It provided valuable resources and information on where to seek help, breaking down the stigma associated with addiction. The seminar addressed an urgent need in our society. It equipped students with knowledge that can protect them from falling into the trap of substance abuse and offered a compassionate and informed perspective on helping those who may be struggling with addiction. PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

The Hunger Free Day event with the theme "Give What You Can" was organized with the utmost importance and need to address the pressing issue of hunger and food insecurity in our community. In a world where food wastage coexists with hunger, this event served as a reminder of our collective responsibility to support those in need and promote the values of compassion and solidarity. The event aimed to raise awareness about hunger and inspire action at the individual level. By encouraging the public to donate any food they could spare to the needy, it facilitated a direct and immediate impact on the lives of less fortunate individuals. The "Give What You Can" concept allowed everyone to contribute according to their means, making it an inclusive and accessible initiative. The use of Instagram as a platform for sharing these acts of kindness had a twofold purpose. Firstly, it amplified the event's reach, allowing people to inspire others and create a ripple effect of generosity. Secondly, it fostered a sense of community and togetherness by bringing people together on a digital platform to collectively combat hunger. The Hunger Free Day event with the theme "Give What You Can" successfully addressed the pressing issue of hunger, emphasized the importance of collective action, and demonstrated the power of social media in spreading awareness and inspiring positive change. It was a valuable initiative in promoting a more compassionate and supportive society.

Dr.S.Emalda Rani.M.Com.,M.Phil.,SET,Ph.D.,Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, Loyola College, Chennai was invited as the resource person. The session was interactive, informative and inspiring. She discussed practical examples or real-world applications and explained how the concepts can be applied in the students' lives or future careers. Finally she briefed on the ways to be successful. The session ended with Quiz style learning. The impact of the lecture was to motivate the students. Our college students had great time in this session and actively participated in the Quiz. A total of 105 students participated and benefitted much from this Guest Lecture.

The Objective of the event is to promote innovation, problem solving, collaboration and skill development among the participants.

The High Achievers cell, NCAS Alumni Association and PG Department of Computer Science, in collaboration with ISSM Business School and AIM (Association of Intellectual Managers), is hosting a one-day workshop on "Mastering Your First Interview." This workshop is an initiative by IQAC and will take place on Friday, February 2nd, 2024, starting from 9:30 am. The main objective of this program is to enhance your fundamental skills and provide guidance on how to successfully crack your first interview. It is crucial to understand that even if you are an expert in your field, recruiters will assess your knowledge and abilities during the interview process.

Therefore, having a remarkable personality and expert knowledge in your field are key factors in answering the question of how to crack your first interview. For freshers who are eager to kick-start their careers, it is essential to organize your thoughts and refine your foundational knowledge before attending an interview. These insights were shared by the esteemed guest speakers of the day, Mr. V.S. Syed Abuthahir Salman and Ms. K. Monishsha from AIM and ISSM Business School.

The workshop consisted of three sessions for all the graduating students, covering the following topics of major interest as determined from the feedback collected from our college students.
